Branching Power Table Kits

Thoughtfully designed, preconfigured power kits for collaborative tables, that spread out individual access to power, with just one cord. Table Branching Kits easily turn any kind of table into a hardworking collaborative workspace. From traditional conference rooms, to training environments, to dining room tables, getting together and getting things done requires serious access to power. With freestanding, table top power or multiple units mounted along the perimeter, it's easy to come together, spread out, and get to work.
